N. Y. Mayor Notified To Appear Next Thursday.

OTHERS NOTIFIED

Precedent Set in Farley Ouster Followed in Mayor's Case.

By The Associated Press

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 6—Governor Roosevelt announced today he had called a public hearing in the Walker case for Thursday, Aug. 11, in Albany.

Telegrams were sent to Mayor James J. Walker, Samuel Seabury, William J. Schieffelin and James E. Finegan. The hearing will open at 12:30 p. m., Eastern Standard time.

The announcement was made after Finegan, leader of one of the civic groups that asked the removal of Mayor Walker, announced today that Governor Roosevelt, in reply to his rebuttal, informed him Walker had been requested to appear before the governor in the executive chamber in Albany next Thursday.

Finegan sent his rebuttal to the governor in the action to remove Mayor Walker as a result of charges brought in light at hearings of the Hofstadter legislative committee. Samuel Seabury, counsel to the committee, also had filed charges against Walker with the governor, but did not specifically request the mayor's removal.

Finegan today made public a letter from the governor which included the text of his telegram to the mayor. In the telegram to Mayor Walker the governor informed the mayor that he would be heard next Thursday with respect to the charges made by Seabury, William J. Schieffelin of the committee of one thousand, and Finegan.

In calling the mayor to Albany to answer the charges, the governor is following the same procedure he adopted in the case of former Sheriff Thomas M. Farley, who was given a public hearing on removal charges filed by Seabury. Farley subsequently was removed from the office of sheriff of New York county by the governor on the ground that Farley did not satisfactorily explain his large income.

SAY LANCASTER MADE THREATS

Murder Trial Witnesses Tell of Menacing Statements About Rival.

By The Associated Press

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 6—Testimony that the body of Haden Clarke was bruised on the shoulder was given today at the trial of Captain W. N. Lancaster, who is charged with murdering his rival for the affections of Mrs. Jessie M. Keith-Miller at her home here, April 21.

K. B. Bess, a funeral director, who embalmed the corpse of the young writer, said he found the bruise. He also described the bullet wound in Clarke's head, which Lancaster and Mrs. Keith-Miller contend was self-inflicted.

M. C. Tancrel, self-styled naval captain now awaiting trial on charges of impersonating a naval officer, testified Captain Lancaster said in Nogales, Ariz., that he was coming back to Miami to "get rid of that—"

Second To Quote Statement

Tancrel was the second witness to quote Lancaster as making such a statement.

"Another time," Tancrel testified to questions from State Attorney N. Vernon Hawthorne, "I heard Lancaster tell an old flying comrade in our hotel room in El Paso: 'I have seen a lot of dead men and one more won't make any difference.'"

Tancrel testified Lancaster resigned hastily from Latin American Airways, Inc., the company in which they were associated, and planned an immediate return to Miami when he heard reports of the Clarke-Keith-Miller attachment.

EKMAN VICTIM OF KREUGER COLLAPSE

By The Associated Press

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Aug. 6 — Carl Gustav Ekman, prime minister of Sweden since June, 1930 resigned today, another victim of the collapse of Ivar Kreuger's far-flung empire.

As the leader of the popular Liberal party, he accepted 30,000 kroner from Kreuger last February as a contribution to the party funds. At the present rate of foreign exchange that amounts to about $2,000.

An official communique said that was the reason for his resignation, but the statement added the money already has been returned to administrators of the Kreuger concern.

RECLUSE HELD IN DEATH QUIZ

Eccentric Mississippi Spinster Found Mysteriously Slain Near Home.

SIX OTHERS QUESTIONED

Murder Victim Had Also Deserted Society for Life of Solitude.

By The Associated Press

NATCHEZ, Miss., Aug. 6—The eccentric Richard Dana, bearded and long-haired recluse, was among the seven persons questioned today into the slaying of the equally eccentric Janet Surget Merrill, spinster.

Arrested with him was his housekeeper-guardian, Miss Octavia Dockery. They live on a plantation which adjoins that of Miss Merrill. In addition, police held three white men and two Negroes.

The list comprised besides Dana and Miss Dockery, the following men: John Geiger, a logger who identified a coat found in the Merrill home as his property; Odell Ferguson, and T. W. Carr, white and George Sims and R. Norman, Negroes, who were trailed by bloodhounds.

Dana and Miss Dockery had had an argument with the slain woman in recent days, police heard, over damage done to the Merrill property by Miss Dockery's herd of goats.

The body of the spinster, with three bullet wounds, was found in a clump of bushes 200 yards from the dwelling.

The dining room bore signs of a struggle. There was blood on the floor and bullet holes in the wall. Authorities accused a robbery theory on the claim that Miss Merrill had little money left from the one time sizeable estate of her father, Ayres Merrill, former ambassador to Belgium and southern planter. For many years, Natchez has buzzed with curiosity over the strange case of "Miss Jennie." People here never could understand why she retired from society and shut herself off in the spacious home a mile out of Natchez with a forbidding sign on her gate:

"No visitors wanted."

Before she quit society she was regarded as a popular belle, famed for beauty and charm.

Richard Dana, her neighbor, also puzzled the community. Born of an aristocratic family, he also retreated to his ancestral plantation home and shunned people.

MISSING WIFE FOUND ON RELATIVE'S FARM

Morrow Woman Refuses To Explain Disappearance; Sheriff Seeks Two Men.

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD, O., Aug. 6—A search for the missing wife of a Morrow county farmer and three children of a relative ended last night.

Mrs. John Law, the missing woman, and three children of Charles Hall, were found at the Jonas Gilbert farm, five miles from her home southwest of here. Gilbert is an uncle of Mrs. Law.

In the meantime, Sheriff Carl Miller continued to search for Hall and C. L. Gilbert of Sunbury for questioning in the case in which they are charged by Law with having held him up and taken several hogs.

Mrs Law refused to throw any light on why she left the farm when questioned by Sheriff Miller. The sheriff said he believed that the "disappearance" was the result of a family argument. Both Gilbert and Hall are related to Mrs. Law.

Law said his wife and the children were missing after he returned home from Mt. Gilead where he sought aid from authorities.

2 QUESTIONED IN ABDUCTION OF BANK HEAD

Pair Apprehended while Washing Blood from Auto; Clothes Stained.

BANKER'S WALLET FOUND

One Had Threatened Man's Life After Financial Institution Closed.

By The Associated Press

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 6 — While police were questioning two suspects here today a search was being conducted over two counties for John B. Colegrove of Taylorville, Ill., 65-year-old president of a defunct bank, who was kidnaped by two men from his home.

The prisoners arrested here early today, were apprehended while washing blood from an automobile, police said. One of them, James Gammontoni, lost $6,000 when Colegrove's Taylorville bank closed in 1929, according to bank records.

Several times since then, Taylorville police reported, he has threatened Colegrove and once drew a revolver on the banker and demanded the return of his deposit.

When the kidnaping of Colegrove was reported to Taylorville police last night they asked Springfield officials to arrest Gammontoni. Local police said they found him and Amelia Puzzuoli, who said his home was at Detroit, removing blood from an automobile. They were arrested at Gammontoni's home. Puzzuoli, the police said, was attired in clothing which was soaked in blood.

Deny Kidnaping Charge

The prisoners denied they had any connection with the kidnaping and insisted the blood came from rabbits they had killed. Police were unable to find the rabbits.

Meanwhile searching parties had been organized in Christian county, of which Taylorville is the county seat, and here in Sangamon county. Police said they entertained little hope that the banker was still alive.

He had lived alone at Taylorville but neighbors were attracted to his home by sounds of an attack and arrived on the scene in time to see two men push Colegrove into a car and speed away.

The John B. Colegrove and Company state bank, of which Colegrove was president, closed in October, 1929. Colegrove later was convicted in connection with the failure but won a new trial. He was tried again and sentenced to an indeterminate term of one to three years in the penitentiary. He had appealed the conviction.

Threats Received

Police said Colegrove had received several threatening letters in connection with the bank failure. A number of other prominent men in this community have received letters demanding money recently under threat of kidnaping or death.

Evidence of a struggle in the house was found. Furniture had been broken and the floor was spattered with blood. Police found buckshot on the floor. They concluded the banker had been shot. Later, finding the leather covering of a blackjack which had been broken, they decided the banker had been beaten so severely with the blackjack that it had broken.

Sheriff Fred Weinicke of Christian county said Colegrove's wallet was found in the home of Gammontoni. It contained five railroad passes, $26 in currency and clippings of court proceedings in the banker's recent trial.

WHITE HEARS WARNER PLAN

Marion Attorney Submits Proposal for Speeding Loan Company Liquidation.

HEARING SET TUESDAY

Author Seeks Action by Legislature in Special September Session.

A plan designed to speed up the liquidation of closed building and loan companies was submitted to Governor George White yesterday by Fred W. Warner of Marion.

The plan will be given hearing before the governor and Finance Director Theodore Tangeman Tuesday at 11:30 a. m., Warner said this morning.

Under Warner's plan, the building and loan laws would be amended during the special session of the legislature in September to permit receivers to offer real estate on their hands, for sale at fixed values to depositors of the closed institutions. Depositors would be permitted to use their deposits in the purchase of the property.

Under the present building and loan laws, Warner said, from 10 to 20 years would be required to liquidate closed institutions because of the difficulty of disposing of real estate.

Warner said the plan would not discriminate against any depositor. A minimum value would be placed on properties offered for sale by the loan company, he said. Then each depositor would be permitted to bid on the property, so long as the offer was more than the minimum value fixed by the receiver. Outsiders wishing to bid cash for the properties could do so, he said.

The idea for this proposal, Warner said, came from his experience as a member of the law firm which represents C. D. Schaffner, receiver for the Citizen's Building & Loan Co. here, in the liquidation of that institution.

Warner said he has asked Mr. Schaffner to prepare a list of properties taken over by the loan company during the process of liquidation, and to appear with him before Governor White and Director Tangeman Tuesday to explain what the plan might accomplish here. Other receivers of closed building and loans may be asked to attend the hearing, Warner said.

The need for such a plan, Warner said, lies in the fact that the amount of real estate on hands of receivers of closed building and loans increases as the liquidation progresses.

KENTON MORTICIAN CLAIMED SUDDENLY

By The Associated Press

Dingess was widely known in Ohio Elks lodge circles. Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon.

DEFIANCE, O., Aug. 6—Reversing its previous stand, the Herbert E. The post by resolution voiced dissatisfaction over methods used by the government in evicting the bonus marchers last week.

YOUTH FREE ON BOND IN REYNOLDS CASE

Bail for Ab Walker Indicted with Libby Holman, Placed at $25,000.

By The Associated Press

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., Aug. 6—Albert Walker, charged with murder in connection with the death of Smith Reynolds, was released from jail under $25,000 bond, today.

Judge Stack fixed Walker's bond at $25,000. It was signed by Walker's father and Walker was freed.

The judge announced his decision after Solicitor Carlisle Higgins had told him: "The facts before us show nothing more than an offense that is bailable."

Higgins did not immediately say that Walker and Mrs. Reynolds would not be tried for first degree murder.

Bailey Lilpfert and Oscar Efird, attorneys for Walker, signed for a light bond.

They said they had no one to look to for the bond except the youth's father, F. B. Walker, described as a large owner of real estate, but with little ready cash.

Although Higgins told the court the evidence before him does not constitute a non-bailable offense, he made it plain he reserved the right to try Walker on a first degree murder charge in the event additional evidence is uncovered before the trial begins.

Asked if his action today indicates that he will adopt a similar attitude toward Mrs. Reynolds when her petition for bail is submitted, Higgins said:

"Emphatically, no. They are two separate cases. I will not cross that bridge until I come to it.

Mrs. Reynolds will come to Winston Salem in "considerably less than a week," to answer to charges growing out of the fatal shooting of her millionaire husband, Benet Polikoff, one of her attorneys, said today.

Meanwhile, Polikoff added, no further moves will be made by Alfred Holman, the young widow's father, to arrange bail for his daughter.

Polikoff declined to say where the former Broadway favorite is at present, but he indicated she would come to Winston Salem voluntarily whenever her father gave the word.

Reports here yesterday were that Holman planned to bring Libby to Winston Salem within the next 48 hours.

This did not deter officers in

FILE MURDER CHARGE AGAINST OHIO YOUTH

However, Friends Rally To Aid Boy Who Shot Father to Death.

By The Associated Press

PAINESVILLE, O., Aug. 6—A second-degree murder charge was on file today against 17-year-old Raymond Heth of Willowick, who confessed he shot to death his father, C. P. Heth, 52, after the latter fatally beat the youth's mother with a sledge hammer.

However, neighbors and friends were organizing to come to the boy's rescue.

Mr. and Mrs. Heth were killed early Thursday, and Raymond surrendered shortly afterward. Raymond Heth

Quarrels over financial troubles between his parents, were climaxed, he said, with the father's attack on the mother. Raymond ran to her rescue and shot his father after the latter tried to fire another gun at the youth.

The boy, a senior in the Willowick High school, was well liked by his neighbors and there was a feeling among those coming to his rescue that the shooting was justified. Raymond himself said of his act, "I have nothing to feel sorry for."

DAY'S RALLY SENSATIONAL

Hurricane of Buying Sends Issues Soaring from 2 to 12 Points.

SALES OVER 2 MILLIONS

Gains Pared Only Slightly by Profit-Taking in Late Hours.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 6—A hurricane of buying swept the trading floor of the New York stock exchange today, hurling prices upward in one of the most sensational advances of the last three years.

Gains to $2 to more than $12 were recorded on this rising tide of bullishness which threw aside all opposition from shorts and so swamped the facilities of the market that the quotation printing machinery at times was seven minutes behind actual transactions.

Heavy profit-taking just before the close pared down extreme advances, in some instances substantially. At the height of the rising trading was frenzied and the exchange authorities were forced to halt temporarily dealings in two leaders, Allied Chemical and Union Pacific, because there were no selling orders to supply the huge accumulation of purchasing contracts.

All Issues Affected

Encouraged by the strength at Friday's close and fortified by a large accumulation of overnight buying from this country and Europe, bulls went to work on the rejuvenated market from the opening gong. One group after another was caught up in the swirl—rails, electrical equipments, utilities, farm implements, chemicals, communications, steels.

United States steel stocks stood out prominently in this wild scramble the preferred recorded an extreme gain of $12.75, touching $97.50 and closing only 50 cents under the top, while the common, after soaring $8.37 to $42.75, fell back to $41.50, making the net gain $7.

American Telephone, which lost more than a month ago sold at $70.25, but on a full head of steam and inoculated to $104.75 where it was up $7. Its final quotation was $104 and the net gain $5.37. Union Pacific roared up $10.62. Then reacted $1 to $93. Allied Chemical slightly reduced a maximum rally of $10. J. I. Case yesterday's spectacular feature, closed at $42.25, up $5.75. American Can, after crossing $95, subsided to $89 where the net gain was $3.25.

Eastman Near $80

Other final prices were: Eastman Kodak $79.75, up $5; Santa Fe $40.50, up $3.50; American Tobacco "B" $72.87, up $4; Bethlehem Steel $16, up $2.75; General Electric $19.38, up $2; Westinghouse $34.25, the top up $2; Sears Roebuck $23.50, up $2; New York $14.75, up $2.50; Western Union $33.75, up $3.25.

Transactions approximated 2,700,000 shares, the biggest Saturday turnover since May, 1930.

BONUS VETS' CAMP RAPIDLY DISSOLVING

1,000 Pass Through Ohio Friday with More Enroute Today.

By The Associated Press

Additional hundreds of bonus marchers, recently driven from Washington, moved toward the eastern Ohio borders today, on their journey homeward, while 70 Ohio National Guard trucks stood ready to aid them.

More than 1,000 of the rapidly dissolving "army" passed through the state yesterday, most of them by train.

The trucks were at Cheapside, just across the Ohio river from Huntington, W. Va., and at Bridgeport, across the river from Wheeling, W. Va.

In addition, the state had a cargo of gasoline and oil for veterans driving their own automobiles or trucks.

The largest group to cross Ohio yesterday were 1,000 veterans on a 15-car train enroute to Chicago. There were 800 on another train which halted at Cincinnati, 200 of whom were for Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana.

Leaving the train at Cincinnati, the latter 200 appeared physically exhausted but insisted they have not abandoned their fight for the bonus. "We're going back home and get organized," their spokesman said.

TWO TRAIN WRECK SUSPECTS FREED

TIFFIN, Aug. 6—Two suspects were released after questioning in connection with an attempt to wreck a Pennsylvania railroad train at Bog-four here, Monday. One of the rails was fastened to a similar attempt 20 years ago, police said.

(NEA Rogers Special)

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Aug. 6 — Every year it gets harder and harder and harder to tell the difference between a Republican and a Democrat. (Course outside of the limits) their platforms and policies become more and more alike.

But I believe I have found out the easy way to tell one from another this year. It's just the way they talk.

The Republicans say, "Well, things could have been worse," and the Democrats says, "How?"

GALLSTONES STOLEN BY LONDON THIEF

By United Press

LONDON—Why anybody should want to steal 140 ounces of animal gallstones is a problem now puzzling the police here.

This strange booty was recently taken from a scientist's office in the heart of London. The owner has offered a reward of $200 (at par rate of exchange) for recovery of the stones which he was using in connection with researches.

Police believe that the thief did not know the value of his haul. That he did not lack normal business instincts, however, is shown by the fact that he took some cash and cigars at the same time. But what is he going to do with the gallstones?

Scientists have found that red and yellow onions contain an acid that kills parasitic fungi, while white onions lack that defensive element.

July Moderate Month in Spite of Hot "Spell"

July of 1932 brought higher temperatures on several days than in the same month in 1931, but there were not so many days when the thermometer sizzled in the 92's and 94's.

Beginning July 3 and through the twenty-third, there were only two days when the temperatures were below 70 and on one day, the twenty-first, the mercury stood at 99, the record for this year.

Last year, however, the entire month was practically all daily readings of from 90 to 94.

The highest July temperature in Marion, and incidentally the maximum temperature in Marion since the state weather bureau has been keeping statistics, was on July 3, 1911, when the reading was 105.

The average temperature for the month, 73.27, was 1.47 degrees higher than the statistical average.

Rainfall last month was considerably heavier than in July, 1931. The total for last month was 2.— inches and for last year 2.6[illegible] inches, neither figure reaching the average of 4.23 inches, set for Marion.

One point on which last month's weather was ahead of the weather bureau average was in the character of the weather from sunrise to sunset. The average, according to statistics is nine clear days, [illegible] partly cloudy days and five cloudy days. Last month chalked up 12 clear days, 15 when it was only partly cloudy and four cloudy days.

George Washington Will Wear Overalls in State Fair Drama

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 6—They're going to put overalls on George Washington at the Ohio State fair here Aug. 29 to Sept 3.

All too long it has been decided, the father of his country has been known chiefly for his skill as a soldier and his wisdom as a diplomat.

Now, in "Washington Lives"—an outdoor mass drama to be presented as a night fair feature—Washington will be portrayed as a farmer, too.

Of course, State Fair Manager Charles M. Beer pointed out, the pageant will not lose sight of the hero's other achievements. But all through one part of the pageant, his farming will be stressed.

Farming, Beer said, was Washington's favorite pursuit after the war service.

"No greater service can be rendered any country or nation than Washington once wrote, "than doing full justice to agriculture."

Further than that, the fair manager continued, Washington was America's first conservationist. He imported pheasants to Mt. Vernon to improve hunting.

One hundred persons, costumed if you can imagine it—as wheat, corn, oats and the like, will lend color and novelty to the phase of "Washington Lives," in which agriculture will be stressed.

As for his military leadership, a stirring military drill will be a part of the play depicting the phase of Washington's career. National Guardsmen will be asked to participate.

ELECTRIC DEVICE TIMES ATHLETES

By Telegraph Press

PITTSFIELD, Mass.—Accurately measured down to the one thousandth part of a second—as possible in timing athletic speed contests through an electric timer developed by General Electric engineers here.

The device employs an electric eye or photocell, which not only detects the start and finish of a race accurately but makes a permanent record on a strip of movie film.

Experiments by Professor Thomas K. Cureton Jr. of Springfield Y. M. C. A. college indicate that hundredths is about three times as much faster than accurate electric timing.

FLIER ASK FUNDS

By The Associated Press

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—Ople Lindsay of Nashville, is appearing before the American Legion here, asking for financial aid in making a non-stop flight to Paris from Nashville. He was credited with six official German airplanes as a flier-ace in the World war, and seeks to finance the proposed flight by carrying 3,000 letters at 25 each. The flight is planned as a return call to the last visit paid by Lafayette in 1825 to Andrew Jackson at the Hermitage in Nashville.

GRAIN VALUES SOAR HIGHER

Three-Point Advance at Chicago Unequaled Since Early June.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Aug. 5 — Rushes to acquire ownership of wheat at bargain prices took the wheat market soaring today almost 3 points, a rise unequaled since early June.

Reports of moves to organize federal sponsored pools for commodity purchases inspired much of the bullish enthusiasm. Sensational gains in stock market values were an additional incentive, together with continuance of drouth in Canada curtailing the wheat yield there.

Wheat closed strong at the day's tiptop figures, 2¾@2⅞ above yesterday's finish, corn 1@1¼ up, oats at 5@5¾ advance and provisions unchanged to 12 cents higher.

Broadened public interest on the bull side was apparent, and profit taking sales on advances were readily absorbed. Special impetus to buying appeared to result from Washington reports that the Reconstruction Finance corporation could finance pool purchases of government sponsored supplies which removed uncertainties due to such holdings.

Talk was current that with the aid of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, which has lately been given a new power, a wheat buying pool could purchase the federal farm board wheat holding of approximately 30,000,000 bushels. Doubts expressed that this would be done were practically ignored and the market expanded fast with individual trading lost sight of. No large concentrated orders were executed either way, but the pit watched Wall street developments sharply and was guided largely by price advances there.

The attitude of both nations was expressed in replies to notes sent by the United States and 18 South and Central American nations requesting an amicable settlement

Peace efforts were complicated however by reports of a renewal of fighting in the Chaco area A Bolivian patrol fired on an outpost of Fort Presidente Ayala late yesterday but the attack was repulsed the report said

JUSTICES OF PEACE WANTED IN COUNTY

Trustees Unable To Fill Vacancies Failure To Collect Fees Blamed.

Special to The Star

MT GILEAD Aug 6—The office of justice of the peace seems to be losing favor in Morrow county as two townships are without justices and are having considerable trouble getting anyone to accept the office

Justice Harold Purt at Cardington recently resigned and the trustees of the township state that although they have endeavored to secure someone to take over his duties they have so far been unsuccessful

Burt complained that he had been unable to collect fees and costs in certain cases in which he had spent much time and money and that he felt that he could not afford to stand the expense in these actions himself Whether such conditions exist in other townships is not known

In Westfield township no justice court has been in session for several months due to the fact that Clay Renz elected at the last election refused to qualify for the office Here again the trustees have been unable to induce anyone to accept the office

ANALYSIS OF COCA-COLA SHOWS POPULAR BEVERAGE HAS DISTINCT VALUE TO USER AS ENERGY BUILDER

FOR NEXT WEEK
Write an ad (6"x12") for The Ohio Theater on the motion picture "Believers of Sunnybrook Farm" Submit your ad to The Ohio Theater not later than 5 p. m. next Wednesday

The following summary contains the facts as found by the Missouri food and drug department concerning carbonated drinks and Coca-Cola

To determine whether carbonated beverage is a food it is necessary to consider contents of the average bottle which is sugar filler or carbon dioxide acid and water The sugar content alone in carbonated beverages is enough to class the product as a food and it is so classed by food officials A recent experiment on the sugar content of carbonated beverages disclosed that on 46% samples per cent of sugar was 11 19 Water is one of the principal ingredients

The public is advised to consume at least three quarts of liquid a day To attempt to consume three quarts of drinking water a day becomes a task and in many instances may carry impurities into the human body For this reason the consumption of carbonated drinks is advised due to the fact that water used must be absolutely pure The nutritive values which beverages carry are worth consideration

The fruit acids which are contained in beverages have the power to neutralize the sweets in the stomach rendering a condition which does not interfere with the appetite The consumer can partake freely of carbonated beverages without molesting the appetite In fact the tartness produces a desire for food hence such drinks can readily be classed as an appetizer

Everything in Coca-Cola comes as nature produced it The federal and state departments require no label as to its being artificially colored flavored or preserved It is not synthetic

The water used in making syrup as well as that used in bottling must meet requirements such as taint free from any foreign tastes other than given to pure water Chlorine is used to purify water and after the amount used in the water is in excess of that required it is neutralized by the taste Water which has such a taste is not suitable for use in carbonated beverages or Coca-Cola and must be treated until that taste is removed

Sugar of the highest degree of purity is used in the manufacture of Coca-Cola If sugar of an inferior quality is used there is more danger of spoilage and the manufacturer cannot afford to take the risk Fermentation and decomposition in syrup is traced to sugar which is not properly refined before use

Many object to Coca-Cola on account of the ingredient known as caffeine It may be said the most important ingredient from the point of view of those who maintain Coca-Cola is injurious Caffeine is obtained from a number of natural sources Today in all nations there exists a national beverage whether it is tea coffee cocoa chocolate or what not which are the products of a caffeine bearing plant All such products contain caffeine and are used throughout the world

Caffeine used in Coca-Cola is taken from tea the same kind of tea which is used in every home and considered one of the best drinks especially during the summer season, and served freely by mothers to their children It is found in tea to the extent of two to three per cent extracted in pure form and used in Coca-Cola in about one-half grain to the drink or bottle containing six and one half ounces The amount of caffeine found in an ordinary cup of coffee is approximately two grains These figures have been found by chemists who have made hundreds of analyses Many teachers and lecturers condemn Coca-Cola and are at the same time heavy consumers of coffee A large number of school cafeterias serve coffee and tea but bar the sale of Coca-Cola to students because it contains caffeine when in fact the total amount found in a bottle of Coca-Cola is less than one fourth as much as found in an ordinary cup of coffee

In drinking tea or coffee the puckering of the lips is often experienced due to the fact that the product is brewed too strong in coffee a very dark brown practically black decoction in tea a pale yellow or brown decoction In both instances if too strong they will pucker the mouth

There is evident, something else in tea and coffee as compared with the solution of caffeine in syrup Tannic acid found in tea and coffee is obtained from oak bark it is also used in tanning leather Another product found in coffee which is responsible for all of the ether and taste is known as oleoresin Caffeine gives no odor but gives a light bitter taste when placed on the tongue In pure form The injuries to health by coffee and tea drinking should not be attributed to caffeine but to the other substances found therein a few as above mentioned such as tannic acid and oleoresin are deleterious to the stomach

The public should beware of open jar drinks such as found at picnics carnivals fairs and a number of roadside stands Such are made and sold under very unsanitary conditions often by vendors whose only thought is to gain an extra profit and give no thought or care not for purity quality or wholesomeness of the product

Tennis Player After Ball Lands in Court

That he was merely trying to recover a tennis ball which had been knocked into the yard during a tennis game, was the defense offered by Ted Haynes of Bellefontaine avenue when arraigned in municipal court late yesterday afternoon on a trespassing charge filed by Mrs. Bethel Spano of Wildoor street.

Haynes told Municipal Judge W. R. Martin that he with several others were playing tennis on a court adjoining the Spano home and when he asked permission of Mrs. Spano to recover the ball which had gone into her ward, she demanded the payment of 10 cents for the privilege of recovering the ball. He told the court he ignored her demand and picking up the ball walked out of the yard. Judge Martin announced he would reserve his decision.

TRY "TRUTH SERUM"

Police Adopt Unusual Method to Seeking Cause of Woman's Death.

CHICAGO, Aug. 6—Investigators may use a "truth serum" on Dr. William A. O'Brien in an effort to clear up the mystery surrounding the death of his wife, Vera.

Mrs. O'Brien died last Monday of poisoning, and her husband has been held since Wednesday for questioning.

On the theory that with his senses dulled by the drug, he will answer questions truthfully, the police said they would subject him to the test. Dr. O'Brien has already submitted to a test by a "lie detector" machine. He insists his wife killed herself.

British Paper Sees Crisis in U.S. Trade Past

By The Associated Press.

LONDON, Aug. 6—The Economist, one of Great Britain's foremost economic and financial authorities, said today it believed the crisis of the economic stress in the United States was past.

It would be rash to predict that America is yet within sight of general economic recovery," it said, in a review of world conditions, "nevertheless, there is reason to think that the giant of the west has passed the crisis of his sickness.

"In the spring and summer there were grave symptoms, such as the growth of unemployment, the widespread failure of banks, the growth of hoarding and the the drain of gold to Europe and distrustful public.

"These were justifiably regarded with serious apprehension, but the period of panic seems to have passed. The process of hoarding is being checked the banking position is salvaged and the psychology of the people steadied."

There are also indications, the paper said, that "in the world generally, the sleepest phases of the depression are past."

ACCUSE LANCASTER OF MAKING THREATS

Murder Trial Witnesses Tell of Menacing Statements About Rival.

"The rumors of the attachment were given to Lancaster by J. F. Russell, who was associated with us. The rumors were written Captain Russell by his wife," he said.

Tells of Threat

Russell testified Thursday that Lancaster said he would "get rid of Clarke."

James M Carson, chief defense counsel, asked Tancrel if he had told a deputy U. S. marshal he would gladly testify against Lancaster.

Tancrel's testimony was given in sharply clipped phrases. He said he was a native of Mauritius island, in the Indian ocean, and was of British and French parentage and of Britian birth. He said he is a master mariner.

Mental anguish at his failure to provide for Mrs. Keith-Miller and at reports she and Clarke had become enamored in his absence was pictured in Lancaster's diary, read by State's Attorney N. Vernon Hawthorne, before jurors and packed court room yesterday.

Lancaster's letters to Mrs. Keith-Miller and those she wrote to him, were filled with endearing terms.

A letter from Clarke to Lancaster, announcing his succession to Mrs Keith-Miller's affections, was another high point in the day's session. Clarke said he "felt like a snake" at the outcome of the affair.

Clarke was found mysteriously shot April 21, in the bedroom he and Lancaster occupied at the Keith-Miller home, which Clarke was writing a book on Mrs. Keith-Miller's life story. Both Lancaster and Mrs. Keith-Miller have called his death suicide.

Red Cross Instructor Announces Class Periods for Month of August.

A change in the schedule of swimming instructions at Crystal lake park has been announced by Mrs Ethel Bauman, Red Cross swimming instructor. During the month of August, lessons will be given in the afternoons instead of in the mornings as has been the custom, Mrs. Bauman announced.

Beginners will be given instructions on Monday, Wednesday and Friday while life savers will be given instructions on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

A report for the month of July submitted to the Red Cross by Mrs. Bauman showed that 20 had been taught to swim, 40 advanced swimmers had been given instructions, five beginners had been led through the first stages of swimming, 10 swimmers had been given tests while instructions had been given to 18 senior life savers and to 30 junior life savers. Mrs. Bauman also reported that three senior and 11 junior life savers had passed the required tests during the month.

The Anti-Christ Spirit

A SERMONETTE
BY REV. S. F. PORTER
Pastor Emmanuel Baptist Church

When the enemy shall come in like a flood the spirit of the Lord shall lift up a standard against him."—Isaiah 59:19.

* * *

CHRIST shall triumph over His adversary, our enemy the anti-Christ. All who reject Christ and turn from the truth become victims of this enemy and are bound by the spirit of the anti-Christ through error.

Therefore beloved of the Lord, be not alarmed when you hear and see those demoniacs openly denouncing the word of God, the blood of the cross and the existence of God. I say be not alarmed although some of them stand in schools, colleges, universities and many in our day in prominent pulpits. Every modernist in the world today is by God's holy word declared to be an anti-Christ whose coming is after the working of Satan with all power and signs and lying wonders. They tear to pieces the Holy Scripture, because it denounces them. They call Christ a "liar" so they may say "We are like him." They deny the deity of Christ, and I John 2:22 tells us their name. Notice, "Who is a liar, but he that denieth that Jesus is the Christ? He is anti-Christ that denieth the Father and the Son." They have stained their minds with the discredited atheistic theory of evolution, and teach for doctrines the theories of men rejectable concerning the faith.

If space will permit I will give the testimony of the Last Days of Charles Darwin, the high priest of the evolutionists: This is the story of his last days as told by Lady Hope at a meeting in Northfield, Mass. Published in the Christian Evangelist and republished in the June issue of the Moody Monthly.

Lady Hope was asked to go in and sit with Darwin, who was propped up with pillows in his bed and in his hand he had a Bible.

"What are you reading now?" Lady Hope asked.

"Hebrews," he answered, "still Hebrews, the 'Royal Book,' I call it." He placed his finger on some passages and commented on them.

Lady Hope made reference to the strong opinions expressed by many on the history of the creation and their treatment of the first chapters of the book of Genesis.

Darwin seemed distressed, his fingers twitched nervously and a look of agony came on his face as he said: "I was a young man with unformed ideas, I threw out queries, suggestions, wondering all the time over everything, and to my astonishment the ideas took like wild fire. People made a religion of them."

Then he paused, and after speaking of "the holiness of God" and the grandeur of "this Book," looking at the Bible which he was carefully holding all the time, he suddenly said:

"Lady Hope, I have a summer house in the garden which holds about thirty people. It is over there," pointing to the open window, "I want you very much to speak there, I know you read the Bible in the village. Tomorrow afternoon I should like the servants on the place, some tenants, and a few of the neighbors to gather there. Will you speak to them?

"What should I speak about?" Lady Hope asked.

"Christ Jesus," he replied in a clear emphatic voice, adding in a lower tone, "and his salvation. Is not that the best theme? And then I want you to sing with them. If you take this meeting at 3 o'clock, this window will be open, and you will know that I am joining in with the singing."

Included in the secular program are old favorites, among them "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes," an old English air, "Morning" by Grieg, "Sylvia" by Speaks, and "On Wings of Song" by Mendelssohn. Brahms and Goudinod also are represented. Robert Ball and Harold Abel are the soloists and Harold Abel is the reader.

START REHEARSALS FOR CIRCUS AT FAIR

Y. M. C. A. Gymnasts Begin Training for Night Feature of Exposition.

Rehearsals for the Y. M. C. A. circus which is to feature the Friday night program at the county fair next month, were started at the Y today under the direction of H. E. Meredith, former Y. M. C. A. physical director and sponsor of the circus.

The circus will be similar to that given at the Y. M. C. A. last spring the physical director said, except there will be more acts including some unusual features. One act requiring 30 young women is being planned, Meredith said. Any young women wishing to take part in the act, which will be in the nature of a drill, are asked to get in touch with Meredith at the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday night.

The addition of another team to the 17 that will take part in a tug of war tournament which is also to be a feature of the fair was announced by Meredith. The Y-Indus club members, he says, have announced their intention of entering a team in the tournament. The elimination contest will be held on Wednesday and Thursday with the finals taking place on either Friday afternoon or night.

Meredith said he hoped to have 30 teams entered on the opening day and urged any local organization wishing to enter a team to obtain an application blank from the Y. M. C. A. or from the fair board. Each team entering will receive $10 and in addition, the winning team will receive $40.

Starts Proceedings.

Aaron Brown, Marion junk and waste dealer, has filed voluntary proceedings in bankruptcy in federal court at Toledo. He has liabilities totalling $2,217.25 and assets aggregating $4,273. The law firm of Donithen & Donithen represents Brown.

BOND SET FOR YOUTH IN REYNOLDS CASE

Bail for Ab Walker, Indicted with Libby Holman, Placed at $25,000.

Ohio Delaware and New York today from pushing the search for the actress

Miss Holman's illness which has been given as a reason for her failure to surrender, was ascribed by her father a Cincinnati lawyer, to shock and to the fact that she is an expectant mother.

Counsel Issues Statement

A formal statement by counsel for the former actress said

Mr Alfred Holman, father of Mrs Smith Reynolds, came to Winston Salem in the hope that he might be able to arrange bond for his daughter s appearance here such time as the court might direct and thereby spare his daughter the discomfort of an arduous journey in her present condition She is still suffering from shock and is an expectant mother.

'She will not require that the state of North Carolina request her extradition, she will voluntary return to North Carolina and submit to the jurisdiction of the court in the full confidence that she will receive a fair and impartial trial."

The formal statement contained the first public announcement that Mrs. Reynolds expected a child One witness at the coroner s inquest into the death of Reynolds, however, testified that at the hospital she told Walker she was to have a baby.

Brother Reserves Opinion

Richard J (Dick) Reynolds, bearer of the name of his father who founded the huge tobacco fortune here and elder brother of 20-year-old Smith, is enroute home from South America by boat. He said he would reserve opinion until he got here

'If it appears that he was murdered, I shall insist that justice be visited upon the guilty party," he said

Should bail be denied the 26-year-old widow she would be placed in a jail cell here in the woman's ward to await trial

If a special term of court is called, trial likely will take place in September. The next regular term of court is to begin Oct. 3.

Announcement that Mrs Reynolds was an expectant mother brought renewed interest in settlement of the estate of Smith Reynolds, held in trust for him The estate is estimated to approximate $15 000 000. Smith, a minor, left no will.

Fail To Find Trail

Various reports of Libby s presence in Ohio, New York and Delaware were being investigated, but without apparent success

Announcing he had reason to believe Libby was at Montchannin Del, Sheriff Transou Scott of Forsyth county wired authorities there asking them to arrest the singer if they could find her Holman has said his daughter is not in Delaware.

A hearing on habeas corpus proceedings seeking release under bond of Albert Walker was set for today. Walker has been in jail since shortly after the grand jury returned the indictments Thursday.

The hearing for Walker may result in an indication from the prosecution as to what degree of murder will be charged.

Walker's petition contended the grand jury indicted him "without any legal evidence sufficient to show either reasonable or probable cause that your petitioner committed any felonious homicide"

"IT'S WASH DAY," RESCUERS ARE TOLD

By International News Service

HULL, Mass.—A pair of sailors pants flying from the mast of a 50-foot cruiser attracted the attention of coast-guardsmen, who put out in a surf boat to the side of the craft.

"What's all the attention for?" bellowed the owner as the surf boat approached.

"Aren't you flying a distress signal?" asked Captain George Josephs.

"Skipper, "I put them up there to dry"

TALA BIRELL PLAYS LEADING FEMININE ROLE IN OHIO FILM

Received with praise wherever it has shown, The Doomed Battalion' will open here Sunday at the Ohio to show four days

The scenery and the photography have been raved about by every one who has seen the picture The picture also brings the latest Garbo threat, Tala Birell, who, reviewers say doesn't have a real chance in the picture because of the tremendous effects of the natural backgrounds and the gripping swift moving story, laid in the Swiss Alps

Victor Varconi, who has been absent from the screen for a long time, donned make-up again to play the leading role

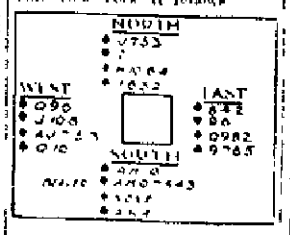
THE TRIPLE SQUEEZE

By Tom O'Neil

A grand slam by a triple squeeze is a feat It involves leading a string of trumps when the opponents have none, in order to compel them to unguard cards in three suits which might win tricks

Such a hand was played by Lewis Osborne of the Beechapelles Club New York It follows



The bidding was South two hearts North two no trump, South three clubs North four clubs, South seven hearts West and East never bid

South's opening bid was a force upon partner who made the obligatory response of two on trump to indicate that he had little of value South's hand was so powerful that he made the unorthodox call of three clubs to see if partner had any values whatever A bid of three no trump by South with a blank in diamonds, of course was inadvisable As soon as North assisted the clubs South felt that the slight values shown by North was ample to assure a shot at grand slam in hearts

West led the heart knave After three rounds of trumps South led the ace and king of clubs, the ace of spades then all his remaining hearts four of them The last trump was the crucial part of the squeeze Before it was led the situation was

NORTH
♠ J
♥ None
♦ K
♣ J 8
WEST
♠ Q 9
♥ None
♦ A J
♣ None
EAST
♠ None
♥ None
♦ Q 8
♣ 9 7
SOUTH
♠ K 10
♥ 3
♦ None
♣ 4

The lead of the heart three made both West and East helpless West discarded a diamond and East a club

South led the four of clubs to the Jack West discarded a spade That enabled the declarer to take the last two tricks with spades

The play

	North	West	East	South
1st	3♥	6♥	6♥
2nd	8♥	4♦	9♥
3rd	8♥	3♠	10♥
4th	10♥	10♠	5♠
5th	Q♠	5♠	6♠

11th	9♠	K♠	9♦	4♠
12th	Q♠	J♠	9♦
13th	A♦	K♦	Q♦

If West had thrown his ace of diamonds the king of diamonds in the North hand would have enabled South to discard a losing spade

Many an owner has arrived at his business in the morning to find it was "Shot" to ruin by fire at dawn.

FIND PERFECT KISS FOR RADIO STUDIOS

By International News Service

LONDON—At last the perfect kiss has been found.

No, it is not a composite picture of Clark Gable, Adolphe Menjou and Robert Montgomery. It is all done with a piece of glass covered with resin, and lightly touched with a cork.

London radio stations have been making various acoustical experiments, and it has been found that the human kiss on the air is a sloppy thing at best. It has too many high frequencies to register properly.

So in future radio plays, when London listeners hear a passionate kiss between the hero and heroine, it is only a piece of glass covered with resin. The lovers are yards apart.

At the 100th Milestone

On Thursday, Aug 4 the Tiffin Advertiser one of the progressive and enterprising newspapers in this section of the state celebrated its 100th anniversary with publication of an 88 page centennial edition

To newspaper people the issue is one of especial interest because of its excellence throughout To Tiffin residents the element of personal interest is much greater and because of the edition's contents it is certain that copies will be treasured permanently in the homes there In all details from the numerous well written articles telling of the Tiffin of today and the events and people figuring in its history and development there seems to be nothing lacking

Numerous pictures present likenesses of people and places prominent in the city's past and present Among these is a photograph of Josiah Hedges founder of the city who named it for his friend Edward Tiffin first governor of Ohio

Taken as a whole the edition is an achievement of unusual merit one of which the publishers the business firms that made the project possible and all citizens of Tiffin may justifiably be proud

To other communities the centennial edition of the Advertiser may be regarded as an expression of home-town spirit that is inspiring In the 100 years reviewed by the interesting historical articles Tiffin went through all of the varying trends of adversity and prosperity that were the lot of the entire country From this experience has come a city still moving forward and looking upward While many other localities in America are stagnant from depressed spirits Tiffin issues an 88 page newspaper to voice pride in its past and confidence in its present and future That confidence backed by continued enthusiasm and enterprise seems certain of fulfillment

Secretary of Commerce

There are definite specifications for the occupant of the cabinet position known as secretary of commerce they are more definite than those for any other cabinet post He might well be called the secretary of big business

Though comparatively recent in political origin the job and the department it directs have become of vast importance. Government is largely a matter of controlling wealth, in the United States control is achieved by friendship

The secretary of commerce is held responsible for cultivation of big business friendliness By all accounts the most successful holder of the title is Herbert Hoover who developed its possibilities under Presidents Harding and Coolidge

When Mr Hoover became President he appointed Robert P Lamont to the position Mr Lamont a retired capitalist was short in one qualification. His political resources were not developed adequately

He accepted the post as honorary rather than active Though he performed his duties acceptably enough he did not display any extraordinary aggressiveness He was of big business, but he was not with big business in the way that the Hoover administration would have liked him to be

His resignation and President Hoover's appointment of Roy D Chapin who has made his mark in the automobile industry will be the cause of much conjecture as to whether or not Mr Lamont stepped down for purely private reasons or at the suggestion of the administration Such conjecture will be futile It is not important to know the exact reason

It is important, however that President Hoover has replaced Mr Lamont with a man who is expected to be of prime importance to him in his campaign for reelection Mr Chapin fills the qualifications for secretary of commerce in a government which adheres openly to the policy of taking care of business as a means of national economic stabilization

Wait and See.

When Senator Borah says "I do not" he leaves no doubt. Pursued Chicago newsmen who tried to interview him about his political plans this week uncovered an interesting policy of negation, but discovered no traces of definite affirmation

The senator will not support President Hoover on the Republican platform. In short he will not support President Hoover

The senator will not say anything good about the prohibition plank in the Republican platform Neither will he put in a word for any of the economic planks.

He will not support the Democratic ticket He will not support the Democratic plank on prohibition

He will not take part in a third party movement and he will not propose a political platform of his own.

So many negatives must make at least just one affirmative answer; Senator Borah adds yet a statement to puzzlement by asserting that he will not remain idle through the campaign

What will he do?

He will not do anything that anyone wants or expects him to do, depend on that That's a great man is Mr Borah. Who else could be so [illegible] attitude in contemplating?

A Great Day Ahead.

The Columbus baseball club is certain to have its array of players steadily strengthened for the game with Kansas City next Wednesday

On that day 70 Marion boys will be present guests of the Columbus management as a reward for their athletic efforts in the Marion playground activities here during the summer

It is safe I am sure that nothing else could have been given these youngsters that would have pleased them more Medals or certificates of merit are fine symbols for gain and beyond doubt always are appreciated by the recipients Medals and certificates are durable and lasting and make attractive additions to a youngster's collection of trophies But no awards of that type would last longer than will the memory of this trip to see an American race follow its full course It is a prize that every boy in Marion will receive with boundless joy

In fact the Ball Ball party is one in which most Marion men especially age would join with pleasure One of the main reasons for the never waning popularity of the game that continues to hold its place as the national game is its appeal and interest to the average American male from the time that he is old enough to know how it is played until he is too old to hobble to the ball lot

Yes all Marion men from dad to grandad envy those 70 boys for their prospects of a joyous Wednesday afternoon at Crosley Field

Surrebutter!

The Walker case goes slowly toward some kind of a conclusion Judge Seabury has published a rebuttal to the mayor's reply to his original charges and the next development may be a surrebuttal in which Mr Walker again will apply the whitewash Perhaps it can go on forever one sprinkling on soot and the other trying to cover it up with lime

In Judge Seabury's reply there is a refusal to recognize the mayor's argument that a public official starts with a clean slate when he is reelected It is found in part in the following statement It is a sorry slight indeed to see a person occupying high public office whose honor is impugned taking the position that the people must suffer him to continue in his public office because he was fortunate enough not to be caught in time

To support this point Judge Seabury quotes at length from authorities He contends that voters approval in Mayor Walker's case meant nothing because voters did not know of the derelictions which it is charged are sufficient grounds for his removal from office In this phase of the argument Judge Seabury and those who see eye to eye with him are clashing directly with Tammany hall

The hall follows an established policy of standing by its accused leaders through thick and thin storm and sunshine Even after public disgrace it retains them in high offices of its organization and does not hesitate to renominate them If there is a chance of electing them It is therefore no surprise that Mayor Walker claims that a majority vote effects absolution in his case He is but observing Tammany practice

The nation awaits the next development of the case with interest exceeded only by that in the Olympic games and the major league baseball races How will the worried governor at Albany escape from the trap which circumstance has set for his presidential ambitions? The evil day will not be delayed much longer, a nation awaits anxiously the decision which will make or break James J Walker

An Important Difference

Advising people to work hard and keep their mouths shut is doubtful sagacity when millions are denied the opportunity Perhaps Owen D Young really meant something else when he said that in these days it is necessary to conserve every minute of time and ounce of energy for something more important than talking

In all probability, he was not giving general advice but describing his own situation As one of the accepted leaders of the nation's industrial battalions he is too busy thinking and planning to talk If his thinking and planning will give employment the people will be willing to forego the pleasure of listening to his voice He may be sure of that

It is to be hoped that other prominent men with reputations for thinking and planning better than their more ordinary fellows will see the excellence of the example It will bear repetition that nothing ever happened to demonstrate the fallibility of the great and near great with more force than the engulfing flood of ill-advised statements with which they tried to bolster public morale in the early months of the depression

There are however important differences in talk There still are men in the United States and Mr Young may be one of them who have the capacity to anchor their speech in solid thinking It is the special duty of such men to talk because it is only by talking that people can be made to understand the programs which affect their welfare Silence is golden only when it is occupied with thought that later will be shaped into sound advice for all men to hear and for wise men to heed

OHIO LEGAL NOTE.

There was a time not so long ago when Indiana was considered somewhat in advance in the matter of highways and highway building A few strips of concrete spanned the state but for the most part the roads were made of that fine gravel which when graded deceivingly rain into the center had a nasty way of letting automobiles ever into ditches

He moved his hand as if to touch hers, but checked the impulse.

"Do you . . . love him, Sondra?"

She checked her sobbing with an effort.

"I'm so . . . sorry . . . so ashamed . . . I thought you didn't care for me any more . . . I thought—because of that money . . ." her voice broke again. "I'll try and pay it back some day, John."

"No, but . . ." she turned her face away, tearing at her handkerchief. "I've only got about a thousand dollars in the world. I've been trying to get work . . . but it's so difficult . . . almost impossible . . . nobody wants me. I told you I had plenty of money . . . well, I haven't . . . Ben gave me twenty-five hundred dollars, and I've spent most of it already," she laughed pitifully. "It's queer how life can change in a little while . . . isn't it? . . . I seem to have lost all my friends . . ."

"You'll never lose me."

She gave him a grateful smile.

"Cass said that . . . Cass—" her voice broke again.

"Does . . . Merriman know?" Anderson asked.

"Know? . . ."

"Your position."

"No. I never told him. He thought I had . . . plenty of money. Not that it would have made any difference—he really loves me."

"I am sure he does, my dear."

Her lips trembled. "John . . . if we could only have things over again—" she broke out.

His grasp of her hand tightened a little.

"You mustn't say that—there is lots of happiness to come for you. Why, you've hardly begun your life yet."

She went on, unheeding him.

"I've so often wanted to tell you—but you said . . . if Mark had been married, you wouldn't have given him the job . . ."

"The I" That was very selfish of me." He looked away from her. "You must let me try and make amends, Sondra."

"What do you mean?"

"Don't you think I can help you—and him?"

"I don't want you to . . . I couldn't bear it . . . oh please don't make me more unhappy than I am."

She began to sob again.

Anderson paced away from her and came back restlessly. "What are you going to do, Sondra? . . . you can't stay here."

"I must—it's quite . . . here . . ."

"And when your money has all gone?" he asked.

She looked up at him.

"I thought . . . I suppose . . . I must go out to Mark," she said her in a whisper.

"Do you want to go, Sondra?"

Her eyes fell.

"I suppose other women go," she said.

"And you would hate it—even more than other women do," he answered. "But there won't be any need for that, Sondra."

She looked startled.

"No need? What do you mean?"

"I mean that Merriman has been so ill the doctor suggests sending him home as soon as he can stand the voyage."

To Be Continued.

The Stars Say—

For Sunday, Aug. 7.

SUNDAY'S HOROSCOPE favors those in employment, promising the friendliness, co-operation and preferment of superiors. But there is sign of a sudden proposal to make a radical change or eventful journey, but these should be subject to wise consideration and vigilance, as there may be strange adventures or perilous conditions of an irregular aspect.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of favoritism and influence with employers or those in authority. But also there may be sudden proposals from strangers, calling for travel, removal and new affiliations, and these openings should be hailed with caution, as dangers and peculiar experiences may ensue. A child born on this day will be fond of the irregular, unconventional and hazardous; restless, albeit gracious, talented and successful in employment.

Notable nativity: Ann Harding, actress and movie star.

For Monday, Aug. 8.

MONDAY'S ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST is for extremely lively and strenuous activities, both in private affairs and in business. There is liable to be more than ordinary pleasure and social interest stirring in domestic and romantic affiliations, with particular stress on the latter. All the faculties and energies will be under high stimulus, although there may be some tenacious obstacle, impediment or hostile circumstances to vanquish. New contracts and affiliations and speculation should flourish.

Those whose birthday it is are at the threshold of a lively and pleasant year with great activity in business as well as private relations. There is a sign of unusually stirring events in domestic, social and affectional associations. New arrangements, contracts and negotiations with corporations, mergers and secret bodies should thrive, despite hostility or stubborn obstacle. A child born on this day will be lively, resourceful, energetic and constructive in both its business and personal life.

Notable nativity: Sylvia Sidney, movie actress.

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—The University of Michigan has benefited to the extent of $99,083 by cash gifts the last year, Dr. Frank Robbins, assistant to the president announced. FILIPINOS IN TALKIES

Star Chosen for First Sound Film

Marcia Matthews, dark-haired Manila beauty, is to be started in the first talking picture to be produced in the Philippines. Manila-made pictures featuring Filipino leaders heretofore have been silent.

• • •

MANILA, P. I. — Nena Linda Mary Walter, Alma Bella and Naty Fernandez—Filipino movie stars—share the popularity of Greta Garbo, Constance Bennett and Ruth Chatterton in the Philippines, but their position is threatened now by Nena to produce sound films here.

Two small concerns have imported expensive equipment and announced plans to produce talkies at small cost for the more than 300 theaters in the Islands. A large percentage of these theaters already are equipped for sound films.

Hollywood Films Popular.

By far the greatest number of pictures shown in Manila and the provinces come from Hollywood, but more than two score native pictures have been turned out in the small studios here, one concern having made 30 silent movies, mostly in the last two years.

The Filipino actors, some of whom are of part American or Spanish blood, are not paid Hollywood salaries, and many are employed on a part time basis.

The pictures produced here show the Hollywood influence, but cost only a fraction of the feature films made in California. Jose Nepomuceno head of the largest studio producing silent films, said the average cost was less than $1,500 but that about $80,000 each was spent to produce two recent feature talkies.

James Matthews, who launched the principal project to make sound films, believes profitable talkies can be produced on the same low scale. A native of the islands with experience as a cameraman in Hollywood, he brought a large quantity of equipment to Manila.

Marcia To Star

Marcia Matthews, a dark-haired favorite of Filipino audiences, is to be starred in the first talkie.

None of the Philippine films has been exported, except to Hawaii, where there are more than 50,000 Filipinos, but Nepomuceno said he believed the latest feature, "The Moro Pirate," would have some appeal in the United States and Europe. This and a film version of the novel "Noli Me Tangere," by Jose Rizal, the Islands' national hero, are the most ambitious of the films yet produced here.

Collapse of Helena Brixton young gets Madge to Tell the Real Manner of the Kidnaping of Marion and Carolyn

NOBLE Black sat a while drinking the object over back in his Stockings at Inn, but when he had pushed the cup and helped me to climb to put me hand and comfort from friends.

"Don't worry about this now," he said. "It was hardly cleverly clever, but mind I shall find some way to straighten that out. I think it would be best if we went on to Sydney Street and let you know how things are going. We shall not know exactly when we shall make the attack until your husband makes a move, which will not be for many hours. Then we will send the news along to you. In the meantime you can get me here if you should" here I took in their address) "at any time."

A Question Asked

He scribbled a telephone number and handed it to me with the key. I was about to leave his hand with a question.

"Do you . . . he said. "I know that you would be there this evening if you could."

He went away upon that assurance and I went slowly up the stairs to the big veranda. Noel turned himself from a chair where he evidently had been watching for me and stepping for some under-wire, escorted me into the hotel.

"Mrs. Brixton has collapsed," he said in a low voice. "The doctor is there and they've sent for a nurse. Mr. and Mrs. Underwood and Ross are with her, and she won't let any of them leave her—certainly not with those of the three attempts to get out of the room. Mrs. Underwood said some explanation would have to be made to the hotel management. Will it be your desire that how much of the truth is told?"

The hotel manager, tall and dignified, came forward before Noel finished speaking and though his manner was infinitely kind, I saw clearly that he would welcome some explanation of our activities since coming to the hotel.

We are much distressed to hear of Mrs. Brixton's illness," he said. "I trust that nothing has happened in the hotel which would . . ."

Madge Tells the Truth

I took a sudden resolution, and seized upon my ingenue, loving courage.

"May I see you for a moment?" I asked.

"Certainly. Come into this little room back here. We shall not be disturbed here."

"Will you excuse me, Noel?" I asked, "and will you tell Mrs. Underwood that I shall be with her very shortly, as soon as I have made some necessary explanations down here?"

I spoke quickly, crisply, and I think the manager declared that I was irritated at his patent curiosity. At any rate he began a voluble protest against my telling him anything.

"Please do not think that you have to make any explanation," he said. "I was simply expressing my sympathy with . . ."

"Explanations are due you." I said, interrupting him ruthlessly, "but I want to ask your utmost co-operation in helping to keep our errand back from public knowledge."

His face changed subtly, and I knew that he was wondering if he was about to hear something which would be embarrassing to the hotel.

"Two girls, the daughters of the Underwoods and the Brixtons, who are at Whitney Hall, have been kidnaped," I said. "Because the Underwoods and Mr. Father are connected with the government secret service, we have been able to conduct our investigations, so far, without consulting the police, or discussing the matter publicly. You can see what it would mean if the news got out for the school, as well as for the girls."

I put the question deliberately, for I knew how closely the interests of this hotel, favorite hostelry of the families who sent their daughters to Whitney, was bound up with the welfare of the school. His answer was prompt, filled with horrified apprehension.

Promise of Secrecy

"Why, how terrible," he ejaculated. "Of course, nothing shall be said from here. I shall see to that immediately, without telling the staff why. They will know that their places depend upon their seeing nothing, hearing nothing, saying nothing," he smiled grimly—"and now, how can we best serve you?"

"In the course you just have outlined," I told him, "and by continuing the perfect helpful service we have had. If there is anything special we need, I will let you know."

"You have but to name it," he said a bit grandiloquently, and then I went slowly up the stairs and down the corridor to the door of Helena Brixton's room, through which there came the sound of low, pitiful moaning.

"Will Pictures Men as Becoming Skirted Members of Race in Another Generation

BY WILL ROGERS

WELL all I know is just what I read in the papers, and what I see as I mess around. Well with us right in the middle of the Olympics, we are just bogged down in swimmers, up to our ears in pole vaulters. Its been great fun, and a wonderful sight to see. Nothing like it during our lifetime, and won't be here again in many a year. Course it will during my lifetime, being a young guy, but you old birds wont ever see it again, unless you hit the high seas.

About ten days ago before it started why one day at our studio they brought all the girl athletes out there for lunch and to see the studio. We have a big cafe, and it was full. You missed miss meeting this Texas wildcat "Tex" Dicklinson, she just believes that she can do anything and the funny part about it is she can. There is none of the sports that she cant do and do well. She is an athletic marvel. Played ten games of golf and makes it in 82. They say thats pretty good. I dont play the game, but they say it is. She is within three fifths of a second of Helen Madison's record. This old Texas girl said she would ride, rope, or play polo against me, and I bet she could beat me in any one of em. I sure dont want to get mixed up with em in any of these games, or out of em.

A Flunky Out

Then I met that day Helen Madison, our great swimmer, then Georgie Coleman. Oh and dozens of others. A big pretty blonde girl from Germany spoke good English, said she was a javelin thrower. Javelin? Why thats little light thing like a spear. Why this girl could have heaved a horse, much less a javelin.

Two girls from Mexico, one was a fencer, one was a javelin thrower. The Canadian girls I believe As a whole were about the prettiest of any of our foreign visitors. And they had on the most attractive costumes. The Japanese had a great bunch, and funny thing there was only one girl from France, just one here. I guess France is kinder slow having women taking up boxing, and wrestling, and running and jumping. But they dont mind em doing a lot of work in the fields. I have seen the prettiest boy and beautiful women in the fields.

Course I don't know how this swimming thing goes all these games by. I guess I dont just get my mind made up about it, but I guess its all right. They just as well be doing that as to some other dumb stunt. It sure does make em take care of their health. Course some say that it will be bad for em in the long run, but I doubt it. I have several women friends who ... more pain, there is just lots of things where they are superior to the male.

So I reckon that its only a matter of time that they will not only be doing the same games as the men but will be in the same classes. There will be no male and female classes, for the men are getting pretty punk as a race. We will be wearing skirts in another generation I want to pass out just before they catch me doing some "ballick" work.

Off Days Hurt

You know there was some awful sad things on hole in those Olympics even before they started. Take for instance the Finns. I saw the track and field trials for the American team at Palo Alto, and the disappointment of the ones that were beat for places. Its not so bad to beat in the Olympics, that means you were the best in your country anyhow, but when you have built up a great reputation around your own home, college, and state, and your records show that your time, or the heights of your jump is above certain other performers, then to train for months, even years, to make this Olympic games that are held at home, then you drag yourself from consciousness, and then get to the trials and be beaten, unable by inches, and in lots of cases by men who your previous record showed was better than the time they beat you in, in other words, you know that you just happened to have an off day that particular day.

There is no doubt that there is men on the American team that beat men that day that they couldent do it again in a lifetime. Well you take a loser like that, and darn it it hurts. If you absolutely knew in your own heart that you could beat the man that beat you, why that would sit pretty tough with you wouldent it?

Course thats not taking away credit from the men that won, but its just one of those tough breaks of fate. They said just let it go and make up for it at the next meet. The next Olympics is four years and all of us don't know what they will be doing four years from now. Four years is a long time in an athletic career. But they all took it mighty gamely. They smiled but they smiled through many a tear. I begin to think this athletic racket is a pretty tough thing at that. There is about as many disappointments as successes. I think so follows that most do anything are just as well off. We also never disappointed.—Copyright, The McNaught Syndicate, Inc.

Carr Shatters Record by Running 400 Meters in 46.2

BY BOB KIRKPATRICK

Your Name, Please

Under the date of August 4, a letter has come to this department in which the writer, "One Who Knows," laments what he says is the failure of one city softball pitcher to get the credit due him. Except for the "One Who Knows" signature, the missive is unsigned.

It has been noted in this column on several occasions that letters to the sports editor will be published, if their contents warrant, only when the writer signs his or her name. The name will be withheld if requested but without a signature all letters are hastily consigned to the waste basket. That's where the one mentioned above has gone. Communications are welcomed. That is the only way in which an individual may put across certain things to the public. However, if the letters are worth publishing, they are worth signing. It would save time and trouble for everyone concerned to remember that.

Getting Anxious

Several softball fans have approached me within the last few days on the question of choosing all-city softball teams. It seems that some diamond followers are already getting anxious to see their "favorite sons" included in the lineups.

No method has been chosen as yet for the selection of the mythical teams. They will not be released until after the Little World series. However, the teams will be chosen. You can rest assured of that.

Meanwhile, if there are individuals who think they are capable of choosing the best team in town, get out the pencil and paper and send the results to The Star. Unless the number is such that it is out of the question, the selections will be published.

Playing in the Dark

With the end of summer rapidly approaching, city softball teams are finding it somewhat difficult to finish their seven-inning games before darkness. The same thing happens every summer toward the end of the playing schedule.

Because of this fact the city softball commission has requested that an appeal be made for players to be on hand as early as possible for future games. The games are scheduled to start at 6:15. However, many of them are late getting started, due to failure of players to be on hand. The official starting time will probably be moved up for the Little World series but not for the regular season. Managers and players are requested to make every effort to be on hand at the starting time. Playing ball in the dark is rather difficult, any way you take it.

Double Header Sunday.

The Oakland All-Stars will play a double header Sunday afternoon at the Shovel athletic field. In the first game at 1:30 they will meet Vaughn's Barbers of Marion. In the second game at 3:30 the All-Stars will play the Ex-Legion Seniors.

DISPUTE FLARES AS GAMES NEAR CLOSE

Finnish Runner Brings Storm of Protest for Tactics in 5,000-Meter Event.

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Aug. 6—On a day that calls for a big hand for a great little guy, Bill Carr, for his marvelous 400-meter triumph over Ben Eastman in 46.2 seconds, the tenth Olympiad was rocked today by reverberations of the greatest upheaval since the battle of 1906.

The central figure of the controversy was Lauri Lehtinen, Finland's greatest young runner and disputed winner of the 5,000 meter final, Ralph Hill, an American boy came within three inches of defeating Lehtinen and shutting out the Finns completely in the Olympic long distance "flat" races.

The cause of the dissension was Lehtinen's interference with Hill in an extraordinary stretch duel, during which the Finn three times crossed his American rival in clear violation of rules as well as ethics in an international meet upholding the highest ideals of sportsmanship.

The effect was to stir up a fresh aftermath of bitterness, ill-feeling and partisanship today, with the end of the track and field championships in sight and Finland, once more, the storm center, only a week after the banishment of Paavo Nurmi from the games on charges of professionalism.

Not since the 1908 games when an American, Carpenter, was disqualified for alleged interference with the British star Halswell, and the race re-held as a "walkover" for Halswell because the Yankees refused to accept the decision, has there been anything like the outbreak of feeling that followed Lehtinen's victory.

Result To Stand

Officially it will stand, with Lehtinen getting the gold medal and Hill sharing with him the new Olympic record of 14.30, because the two were so close together that the watches at the finish showed no difference in time.

The Americans refused to make a formal protest, although the national president of the amateur athletic union, Avery Brundage of Chicago, made no attempt to conceal his displeasure.

Lehtinen and other Finns insisted no interference was attempted. Even Hill, reluctant to enter into any discussion at all, asserted his belief his rival did not "mean" to interfere.

It was more than an hour after the finish, marked by an unprecedented demonstration of booing of many in the crowd of 40,000, that Lehtinen formally was declared the winner by Referee Arthur Hotz of Germany, who asserted his exclusive powers, short of a formal U. S. protest, by stating his belief Lehtinen's interference was "not willful."

Hotz did not see the episodes Kirby's informal report to him, specifying the exact details, was confirmed by a Japanese inspector who had charge of the sector around the last turn where the mix-up started.

The whole story of the 5,000 meter final was in the last 100 meters.

Going into the last lap, Lehtinen, plainly worried by Hill's persistence in sticking so close to a world record-holder, spurted. He could not shake off the American, however, and it looked as though Hill was primed to uncork the same sort of finishing spurt that left Lehtinen behind in the trials.

Crossed in Front.

As they hit the last turn, Lehtinen started to go wide from the pole position, carrying Hill with him, into the third lane from the inside. Seeing his way blocked on the outside Hill, still within only a stride of his rival, turned to seek an open way on the inside. As he did so the American momentarily checked his stride, whereupon Lehtinen, instead of continuing the path he had selected, cut over sharply himself, to be in front of Hill once more.

This was where the crowd first began to sense what was going on and its first roar of protest echoed through the stadium. Again Hill tried to get around his rival, to straighten out for the final dash, but Lehtinen, looking over his shoulder, once more anticipated the move.

way, for he was strong at the close.

Lehtinen might have won, anyhat the conclusion, among the experts, was inescapable that he feared Hill's "kick" and employed tactics familiar to the old professional clan in heading off such a menace.

Like the flashing beacon that it was on a stormy day, Bill Carr's crowning triumph in the 400 meters, giving the United States its first sweep of the three Olympic short distance races in 20 years, stamped the little thoroughbred from Arkansas and Pennsylvania as the greatest quarter-miler of all time. He was the master of Ben Eastman, the Pacific coast favorite.

Carr, with a typical rush down the home stretch with his smooth, almost effortless stride, beat Eastman by two yards in time that was considered next to impossible, even on this lightning track.

Rules All Records

His mark of 46.2 wiped out everything in the books or on the cuff including the official world mark of 47 seconds, held by Rud Spencer; the unofficial time of 46.9, credited to Carr himself in the final trials; the old Olympic mark of 47.8 set by Eric Liddell in the 1924 final and Carr's own short-lived time of 47.2 made in the semi-finals yesterday.

While all these exciting events were featuring the day and the United States was boosting its overwhelming point total to 180 1-3 events, with 10 individual men's track and field titles won, the American hopes in the decathlon were soaring by the sensational start of Wilson (Buster) Charles, Oneida Indian from Kansas. Charles jumped and raced out in front of the all-around field, with five events to go today, by amassing 4,268.20 points for the first five contests. Meanwhile Jim Bausch, also of Kansas and American champion, was in fifth place, going strong, with 4,029.35.

5 CONFLICTS SLATED HERE SUNDAY IN OHIO SOFTBALL TOURNEY

Toledo, Springfield, Columbus, Willard, Fremont, Marion To Play; Doc Stith To Pitch.

Another stellar exhibition of softball is slated for Lincoln park Sunday afternoon as 10 entries in the Ohio championship tournament cross bats in a quintet of contests. Twelve teams played six games of the first round last week. The other eight of the 20 entries will play the first four 1937 Sunday with one second round game also on the books.

The first game will commence at 12:30 p. m. with the others following promptly at one hour intervals.

The first game will see the Jenner Lunches of Marion colliding with Willard. The Jenner Lunches are one of the strongest Marion entries in the tourney and Willard comes here with a first class record. Manager Stewart Jones has signed Don Lampbart of Lima to aid Mike Keller of Nevada with the flinging duties. The Jenner nine has a bunch of fence-busting sluggers in the lineup, including Myron Gibson, Fido Robbins, Bob Merchant and others of equal ability.

The Toledo Gulf Oil Refiners and Springfield St. Paul Lutherans will cross bats in the second game and a slug dong battle is likely as neither team has been beaten this season. Springfield has won 17 consecutive games and the fast-stepping hurler has several no-hit games to his credit. Toledo is bringing a team here which the manager insists is tough enough to battle it out with the best of them.

The only colored team in the tournament will swing into action in the third game when Brook's Morticians of Columbus clash with Watson & Dishennot of Marion. The Marion club is virtually the Aggesteels A. C. with some strengthening additions. Dudley the colored star who pitched for the Whittaker Morticians here a few weeks ago in such dazzling fashion, is expected to take the hill for the Columbus nine. The Brooks team has just captured the second half colored championship of the capital city.

The fourth game will see the Belmont Casket company of Columbus, whose lineup includes several of the Linden Gophers of last year, clashing with the Hodes-Zink company of Fremont. Homer List, one of Columbus' foremost flingers, will hurl for the casket makers. Fremont is not well known here but has a fine record in its home ballwick.

The fifth game of the day and first contest of the second round will be the feature battle of the afternoon. Doc Stith, the pride and joy of Marion fans, and the despair of opposing batters, is slated to make his second tourney start against the Columbus High-Frank Garage. As far as Marion fans are concerned, Stith is the mark by which all pitchers are measured. Each time Stith appears here, his blazing fast ball brings new exclamations of surprise and wonder. He fairly knocks 'em cold.

Stith will be opposing a strong aggregation in the High-Frank club. The battle between the two should produce plenty in the way of softball.

THE "BABE" DOES SOME STEPPING

You've got to go some to beat that Didrikson girl as the women athletes at the Olympic games will testify. Here is the famous Texas "one gal track team" winning the finals of the 80 meter hurdles in 11.7 seconds, a new world record and her second for the games. On Babe's right is Evelyn Hall, of Chicago, finishing second, Mabel Clark, of South Africa, placed third.

K.-P.'s Turn in 7-1 Win; Kappas, Erie in 6-6 Tie

Dropping St. Paul's Episcopalians by a 7-1 score the K. of P. softball team yesterday advanced another step toward the pennant in the Commercial league. A mathematical possibility still exists for the Kappas to beat out the Key Pee nine although such a happening appears altogether unlikely at this time. The Kappas got nowhere in their effort to catch the league leaders yesterday as they battled eight innings to a 6-6 tie with the Erie Traffic club. In the other two Friday tilts, the Serv-U-Wel Grocers turned back the Prospect Firemen, 10-7 and the Presbyterian A. C. was shellacked by the Masons, 9-2.

The Key Pees did not find the going particularly difficult against the eighth placers. Dale Schwaderer pitched no-hit ball for five innings against the tail enders but was finally touched for three safeties and a run in the final two frames. The K. of P. batters hopped on Knappenberger for three hits and three runs in the first frame and added runs fairly regularly in later innings.

Ends in Deadlock

The Erie Traffic club and Kappas went through eight innings of warfare before darkness was finally declared the victor and activities halted with the count deadlocked at 6-all. The Railroaders jumped into a big lead in the first two frames, but the advantage in later frames before a determined assault by the runner-up team. Marion Hinklin smacked a homer for the Kappas and Shee' - duplicated the feat for the Traffic club. Both pitchers, Rank and Johnson, were hit rather freely all the way.

Prospect And Serv-U-Wel went on a big scoring splurge, the Grocers finally coming out head by a 10-7 count. The winners galloped across the plate four times in the first inning and added four more in the second and two more in the fourth. Prospect broke loose in the fourth, chasing all seven of their tallies across in this one frame. Neither team scored after the fourth.

Masons on Top

The Masons hopped onto Castner and Morgan of the Presbyterian A. C. and clubbed out a 9-2 victory over the seventh-place combine. Twelve hits rattled off the bats of the winners while the losers could collect only five off the offerings of Bacon, flinging for the Masons.

BRIDGES GIVES NATS BUT ONE SAFETY AS DETROIT WINS, 13-0

Pinch Hitter Spoils Perfect Game After Two Are Out in Ninth.

By The Associated Press

Credit Young Tom Davis Bridges of Detroit with the best pitching game of the major league season.

The 26-year-old right hander who learned his baseball at the University of Tennessee, pitched the Tigers to a 13-0 victory over the Washington Senators yesterday, allowing only one hit and facing only 28 batsmen.

The Tiger star retired the first 26 Senators to face him only to have pinch hitter Dave Harris break the spell with two out in the ninth. Harris cracked the first into left field for a clean single.

It was the second one-hit game of the year in the majors. Earl Whitehill, veteran Detroit southpaw, allowed the St. Louis Browns only one hit on July 4, but walked two men. Bridges walked no one and fanned seven.

The Cleveland Indians pulled closer to second place by outpounding the Boston Red Sox, 7-2, while the Philadelphia Athletics were dropping a 10-inning 9-8 decision to the Browns despite Jimmy Foxx's forty-second homer of the year. The league leading Yankees were held idle by rain at Chicago.

In the National league, Bill Walker came close to duplicating Bridges' performance as the New York Giants trounced the St. Louis Cardinals, 6-2. Walker gave up only two hits, home runs by Ray Blades and Jimmy Wilson.

The rampant Phillies blasted Root, May and Smith for 15 hits and handed the Chicago Cubs a 9-2 beating, thereby stretching the idle Pittsburgh Pirates' lead to four games.

Red Lucas pitched the Cincinnati Reds to a 3-2 verdict over the Boston Braves. He blanked them until the ninth.

Hurst and Foxx in Battle for Big League Batting Top

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 6—Don Hurst's pursuit of Jimmie Foxx furnished the principal highlight of the major league batting contest this week as the intercity slugging struggle failed to approach anything like a decision.

Hurst, the Phillies' ace, kept right on the heels of the Athletics' leader as each held first place in his league, but he never quite caught up. After yesterday's games, Foxx led by a single point, .361 to .360. Each had an average just one point higher than that of a week ago.

With Foxx and another Philadelphian, Chick Klein, still carrying the banners the race for slugging honors came out even again. Each league topped the other in three departments of the slugging records and each had one in which the first and second men were ahead of the leader from the rival circuit. When it came to batting triples they were all square, the leaders, Babe Herman of Cincinnati and Buddy Myer of Washington having 15 each.

Nine changes were recorded during the week in the averages of the batting leaders in each league. Following those in the National [illegible] Brooklyn, .354; Klein, [illegible] P. Waner, Pittsburgh, .349; L. Waner, Pittsburgh, .341; Lombardi, [illegible] Cubs, .329; Herman, [illegible] .325, and Traynor, [illegible]

Leaders in the American were Manush, [illegible] Cleveland, New York, .354; Foxx, Boston, .337; Barth, New York, .333; Combs, New York, .330; Walker, Detroit, .329; Cronin, Washington, .320; Averill, Cleveland, .312; and Burns, St. Louis, .310.
